DEMOCRATIC "FAIRNESS"

The Appointment of Election Officers in Bourbon County.

List of the Republican Commissioner Ignored by the Mule Majority.

Paris, Ky., Sept. 28 -That the much-boasted fairness of the Democratic County Boards in appointing Republican officers of election spoken of in the Lexington Herald is not in evidence in this county, may be gathered from an interview with the Hon. H. Clay Howard, the Republican Commissioner for Bourbon county.

"The County Board met September "," said Mr. Howard, "and a subcommittee was appointed to name eight names from each precinct to be submitted to the committee on or before the 15th day of September. September 8 I had an interview with Sheriff Wallace Mitchell, Democratic Chairman of the board, and agreed with him that the practice heretofore obtaining in this county should be followed, and that each side should select its own officers of election. After this understanding, the subcommittee did not file a list of names, but a list of officers was made out from the names furnished the Republican officer by said sub-committee.

When the board met and organized, the Democratic member of the board, B. B. Marsh, presented typewritten lists of election officers for both sides and moved that they be chosen as officers of election for the ensuing year. The Republican mem- since childhood. ber then reminded Chairman Mitchell of the agreement he had with him whereby each side should name its own election officers, and forthwith fied office of Governor, answers presented a list of names of Republic- charges againt his administration ans having the qualifications of of- after this fashion? ficers of election. Chairman Mitchell the agreement merely smiled and re- Calhoun got all of the $71,000 allowplied: 'Well,' claiming he had enter- ed him as commission by Gov. The Democrtic will be accepted by right-thinking member announced, when their arbitary and untair action was protested himself by himself. against by me that they had the power and proposed to use it. I then left the meting declaring I would not countenance any such proceedings on behalf of the Democratic majority to "Of the Republicans thus appointed, two, W. L. Collins, of Paris, and William Sparks, of Centerville, are octogenarians. Another, Postmoster at North Middlestown; another so dear clear, healthy complexion. 50c at J. that he is unfit to transact any business; another, who, upon inquiry, was found to be unknown to any of the members present; another, a horseman, absent from home with his horses, and who it is known will not be present on registration day; and two thirds of the balance were men whom the Democratic members of the board know would not, under the circumstances, serve as officers of elec tion for Republicans. "Here, then, is a sample of the much boasted Democratic fairness in appointing, contrary to a previous agreement, and over the protest of the Republican of the board, men who, either by reason of their infirmiyou say so. Didn't Know.

While we are on the subject of the Powers jury it would not be out of place to add that intelligence of the jury as a body was clearly shown by fact that after listening to all of the testimony and arguments for four weeks, they were not able to distingish the plaintiff from the defense, and in writing their verdict. Said: "We the jury find the plaintiff guilty and fix the punishment death." Now the question is did the jury mean that the plaintiff, which is the ers was guilty but didn't know after having listened to the evidence and arguments for about four weeks, that he was the defendant? If they mean the former, surely Mr. Powers should not be punished as he is not the plaintiff. If the latter, we believe the public will agree and say with us that they were altogether too ignorant a set to sit in judgment upon the life or liberty of any of their fellow men .--Georgetown Sentinal.

If such be our determination, and I believe it is, we start new page in Kentucky's history.

The curtain is rung down upon the traglies of the past few years, and strong hands and brave hearts are ready to uphold her emancipation from the demons of and uncontrolled wrath. The light of a new day breaks upon us. The future before us, to be made according to the right fashion. Our rich lands promise to all wealth and comfort, and with these an intellectual development that will appeal to the most ambitious. Let us hope owledge will come through our schoolouses, equipped with the best the world ds, and that our young men and our roung women will find no spots so favor hildren as those alongside their fathers' homesteads in Kentucky. We have within our borders all the possibilities of making life happy and useful. The reawakening but at hand. It is the desire of our hearts. It is not a millennium, just a commo veryday, comfortable way of living.

ACTIVE DREAMERS SUCCESSFUL And yet we shake our heads. The plosay. A pleasant thing to dream about for the moment, but after all is only the fancy of an optimist, not the mature thought of a practical man. But let us not dismiss it with this uncongenial nod. There is an old story our good mothers taught us of a small boy that worried the family circle with his dreams until his brothers sold him into slavery to get rid of his foolish pompous notions. In less than a genera tion's time, the entire family, old and young, were camping on the dreamer for

It sounds paradoxical, but the success ful practical man is always to a great degree a dreamer. What better example of this than he who among the air castles in Spain dreamed of seeing across the waters of the ocean that beat her shores the land we now live in.

But the active dreamer and the idle dreamer are very opposite men. The forner is only satisfied when his energies are bent toward a realization of his or of a fine farm, he sets to work to personal distinction, he develops his powers to that end. DEMOCRATIC AGGRESSIVENESS. My opponent says he will conduct an aggressive campaign. The people of Kentucky know that brand of goods. They have had it under the Democratic label

Let us see how this aggressive campaign was carried on in Mr. Beckham's home county of Nelson in 1809. Certificates for the precinot returns were furnished the election officers with the name of W. T. Taylor printed, while the ballots were properly cast for W. S. Taylor, and were filled out and returned to the county election commissioners as printed. On this filmsy pretext 1,198 votes were only counted for the nomines, W. S. Taylor, to do so had been supplemented by one from the court of appeals. No one seem ed more determined to deprive Governor Taylor of these 1,198 votes and his own neighbors of their right to cast those votes, than the Democratic county election commissioner, Judge John Fulton, who a few weeks later was elected to fill one of the vacancies on the state board of election ers, occasioned by the resignations of Judge Pryon and Captain Ellis, who found themselves unwilling to comply with the demands which they saw would be made of them when the contest for minor offices came before them.

I am informed this same Judge Fulte is now the secretary of the Democratic state campaign committee, and it is hoped WISH OF SELFISH MEN. If the people of Kentucky tamely allow their vote to be miscounted in the comslide that will carry us to the bottom. It is ready for us, soaped and greased, and there are those masquerading as states-men who are perfectly willing to see all that is good in the state go to the abyss for their selfish ends. "Step this way, Mr. Merryman, cast your ballot. Not that it will be counted. That has already been done, and the figures made up long ago." calls the gay voice of the Democratic leler. "Heads I win; tails you lose," "great common people" seven and a half columns of cheap talk for their taxes. PARDONING OF ALVEY.

There is another phase of the aggres sive campaign which has been giving us food for thought. We Louisville folk got boasted he would not spend a night in the penitentiary. There was, however, some mistake about the transmission of the pardon, and somewhat to the inconven-lence of the knight of the green cloth he had to go to Frankfort and rest his face over night in the parlor of the dungeon accepted apologies for the delay and was back with us the next day. Despite a promise he made to our amiable governor to quit breaking the law, he is up to the RALEIGH'S VILLAINY.

But then Mr. Beckham must have be him innocent. Otherwise, under dumns of fine print we were told last his pledge to the people of Kentucky, he could not have pardoned him. Perhaps he was found innocent of ever having the know further that the reason that In the same way Raleigh was innocent, things are unlovely is the wretched misvicted of killing the little Aikman girl on the road up in Breathitt and who was pardoned by Mr. Beckham.

will travel them. The table of pardons issued during the last three administrations submitted to the public ten days ago by the governor in defense of his record, is an interesting one, although conspionously incomplete. Still it shows that at least 1,125 convicts have been set free in eleven years. Those paroled and not counted would eastly carry the number to 1,200. It is safe to assume that two-thirds of these, or 800, departed for their homes with a contempt with a political pull, an average we will say of seven to each county. Cannot we here put our finger on a sore spot and say this thing must stop?

While we are on this subject of pardons, Mr. Beckham has asked me in the event of my election if I would pardon Howard and Powers, or either of them. I have made a full reply to that question. If by chance you failed to see it, let me here say that the granting or refusal of a pardon is, at least in part, a judicial act. Let me answer in the words of the great English jurist, Lord Coke, "When the case happens I shall do that which shall be fit for a judge to do." Society needs protection as much as the felon needs correction.

"Count me out," I say, "rather count you out." It is your vote they propose to swindle you out of! The title in a ballot does not pass until it has been counted and recorded. Until then it is the expressed wish of the voter, deposited according to law for record, and he is the one cheated when the vote is not counted as cast.

Do not this and subsequent developmen show clearly that the ferreting out of the efforts of the aggressive campaigner are being directed to use this awful crime for political capital? And yet, in the fuce of this, he would have us believe that the young and inexperienced 'lawyer' from Lexington burst like a meteor upon the greatest deliberative body in the world and held them up, as it were, by the collar and shook out of their unwilling pookets the sum of $1,300,000 for the state of Kentucky."

MONEY FROM SOLDIERS. Not satisfied with this rich plum of $71, 000 as his fee, our get-rich-quick attorney finds there is some money from the eral government coming to the soldier boys who served in the Spanish-American war. His interest in securing them this money was commendable, and if the state to stand the expense of collecting what is due them it is perhaps proper to reimburse for his expense and trouble, but who aufrom each individual account for this labor aggregate to something like $18,000? We have heard of governments, national and state, pensioning those who bore arms in behalf of the country, but I believe it reregged in the dust by exacting tribute in schalf of a political favorite from those who were enlisted to fight under her

But I think it does emphasize to the people the importance of having our the proper distribution of such funds along the usual business lines.

STATE'S FINANCES. While we are dealing with financial matters the people of Kentucky have a right to express disappointment that the present count of its stewardship.

When Governor Bradley's excellent administration closed there was in the state treasury $1,100,614.97. Add to this the amount collected from the government, in round numbers $1,300,000, and the amounts received from July 1, 1809, to June 30, 1901, two years, $9,089,102. We may assume in the absence of exact figures that the receipts from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1903, amounted to not less than $10,000,000. We have then a grand total of about $21,400,000 collected by the state administration in four years. As an offset to that, we have canceled actually and prospectively, a debt of a million dollars and run the state govern In other words, we have, based upon the auditor's statements, in round numbers a government costing up annually about $5,000,000. Are we getting the worth of our money? Let us answer this question ourselves as "buyers of government." MINIMUM OF PROSPERITY. We have a fair conception of the value of service. The stockholder in a corpora-tion knows of the management by the dividends paid him. So the taxpayer sizes up the official management of state affairs treasury, and there is little to show for PEOPLE NEED ASSURANCE.

Kentucky loses, as I have repeatedly pointed out, the great profit on the conversion of its natural resources. We are satisfied with 30 per cent. profit on a white oak cross-tie, and the same stuff con-verted into the higher grades of merchanprofit. Our steam coal exported in vast ufacturers in other states, while we get can be changed. But to the keen eye there is still rich soil that may once more be worked into furrows yielding a hundred fold. It needs work and hard work to put it in tillable shape and the men to do it need not necessarily be poets and orators. The man who swing an ax and guide a plow will do more than he who can charm the ear with

CALL OF THE OLD STATE. Scarred and devastated by the mism agement of the past few years, our good same common sense methods be employed and the same plain, practical men work that would be engaged for ordinary transactions. Realizing that the demand was imperative for such men to take hold this year selected from its members such of us as they thought best fitted to an swer this call. It claims a fitness of each candidate for the office for which he nominated, so that the state administra-tion may go on in all its departments in a way they will give our many interests, individual us well as corporate, the broad-CEL Scope for development.

THEATMENT OF CORPORATIONS. No one can appreciate more keerly than a just spirit toward large public corpos-stions, demanding from them in return that regard for individual rights consistman who stands stockstill in a crowded thoroughfare is not tolerated, though he may claim he takes up no more when stationary than in motion. He mus keep a-going or step aside. So in one affairs we must be on the move. Our peo ple demand facilities in transportation The railroads will give them if assured of fair play. They are entitled to it. they will build.

WEALTH LEAVES US. Looking over a recent map of the pipe line leading from our oil fields. I saw the aded, not toward Louisville, not toward Lexington, not toward Covington and Newport, but out of the state by the mosdirect line possible. Why? Fear of mesonable franchise tax, was the answer And so our natural wealth goes to build up other states. Two insuran with large capital were taxed out of existence in Louisville last year. Is that encouraging? But it need not be
